Introduction

The Police Strategic Plan 2022 - 2025 spelt out the strategic direction for the Mauritius Police Force for three years. Having reached halfway through this plan and in order to address new dynamics in the policing landscape, it has been deemed appropriate to reconsider our approach to certain types of criminality and proactively address emerging policing issues head on.

Strategy 2. Bringing Down Road Fatalities

During the past two years, an average of 10-15 persons have been killed each month as a result of road accidents. These tragic and often avoidable events always have a significant and life-long impact on the families affected, and on the individuals who have to live with their injuries. Causes of road fatalities are mainly attributed to drivers' behaviours, inadequate care of pedestrians and the movement of persons involved in criminal activities on our roads.

The main factors contributing to road accidents on our roads are speeding, drink/ drug driving, failing to wear seatbelts, dangerous and inconsiderate driving.

As such our road strategy will include:

Action Item 1. The prevention of harm

The harm prevention strategy will be geared towards the prevention of offending. As such we will increase our efforts to reduce and prevent offending in the first place. This will be achieved through:

- The targeting of rogue drivers especially those involved in drink driving/ driving under the influence of dangerous drugs, dangerous, careless and inconsiderate driving.
- Cracking down on drivers, riders and passengers adopting risky behaviours. e.g. failing to wear seatbelts, failing to wear/ fasten protective helmets.

Strategy 3: Reducing Property Crimes

Property crimes which mainly impact the community fall into two main categories: (i.) those committed in the streets targeting vulnerable groups such as the elderly, females, youngsters and foreigners, and (ii) those where offenders break into dwellings by day or night. While street crimes tend to be committed by opportunistic offenders, house burglaries are planned and very often offenders target the same or nearby properties for larcenies.

Hence, this strategy aims at preventing crimes and repeat victimization. The expected outcome is a reduction of 5% in the number of larceny breaking and larceny committed on the streets respectively.

Action Item 1: Prevention

The traditional crime prevention strategies like community sensitization will continue to prevail. However, the following additional measures will be taken:

- Consider arrests for non-property offences, including outstanding warrants or fines.
- Enforce bail and curfew conditions, and use of stop and search powers whenever grounds exist.
- For juvenile suspects, work with parents or guardians to increase awareness of Police activity and discourage further offending.

Our Motto

'Selflessly We Serve'

Strategy 4: Tackling Cyber Criminality and Protection to Victims

With the internet at the centre of our daily life, the risk of fraud and other crimes which go along with it heightened. These include crimes like identity theft, phishing, dating scams and more, all of which are designed to deceive and defraud people. On the other hand, the internet is being increasingly abused to cause psychological and emotional harm to individuals through online harassment/ bullying, and defamatory posts.

Internet-based crimes can pose a significant challenge to law enforcement agencies and investigatory bodies because of the difficulty in identifying the culprits and tracing the proceeds of crime. These challenges are exacerbated when such crimes are cross-border and virtual in nature.

The initiatives for combatting cyber criminality will include preventing fraud at its source, pursuing those responsible, and protecting the public.

Action Item 1: Preventive measures

To minimise the risk of victimisation among internet users, the following measures will be adopted:

Trafficking in Persons (TIP) is a modern form of slavery, which includes the exploitation of victims for commercial sex activities, forced labour and servitude, amongst others. There is no definitive profile of a person who is potentially at risk of being enslaved. Moreover, very often, victims of modern slavery may not appear to be vulnerable, or believe themselves to be a victim, but it is likely that they are. Therefore, it is crucial that Police Officers making first contact with potential victims are aware of and can identify the indicators of modern slavery. Additionally, Police have the obligations to take immediate actions to safeguard the potential victim and protect their welfare; bring offenders to justice diligently; and, confiscate all their ill-gotten gains.
